Priesthood Meeting Convenes

With the warm weather on Sunday, a large crowd was present at the regular session of the Stake Priesthood Meeting in the Stake House. The date of the next meeting being on Christmas day, the matter was discussed with the Association officers, and it was decided to advance the date one week, and hold the last meeting for 1932 on December 18th.

Bruce Galbraith was sustained by the vote of the congregation for ordination to the Second Ward Elders Quorum.

Mrs. Eva Terry was released as Assistant in the Stake Primary Presidency, and Mrs. Fern W. Spackman was sustained in her place.

Elders O. A. Woolley, M. Elmer Ririe, A. R. Briggs, Heber F. Allen and James H. Walker, were called upon, and each exhorted the people to faithfulness, especially in the matter of Tithes and Fast Offerings and bore a faithful testimony to the truthfulness of the Gospel.

WEDDING BELLS

TILLACK — ROLFSON

Miss Lucille Tillack of Stirling and Cleon Rolfson of Raymond were married in the Temple at Cardston last Wednesday in the presence of members of both families with Pres. Wood officiating.

A reception was held at the Tillack home in Stirling following the ceremony, and the happy young couple will make their home at Raymond, where the groom is assisting in the operation of the farm west of town. They have a host of friends who will wish them well in the matrimonial journey.

Ken Stone struck a steer on the highway near Welling Sunday night and broke it's leg also damaging the front of the car some. The animal belonged to A. L. Stringham of Glenwood.

Elders A. D. Woolley and E. L. Spackman were the speakers in the Second Ward Sacrament meeting Sunday night, and both gave splendid talks, the former on "Prophecies of Heber C. Kimball and their fulfillment" and the latter on "Missing Scripture." A good crowd was present at the meeting.

Community Pride and Beautification

Raymond can boast of one really fine piece of work of rare beauty, which might be admired in any art center, for it really comes in the class of the fine arts. We have our enterprising War Veterans to thank for this contribution to the beauty of our community.

Did you know that this fine piece of sculpture came from the famous white marble quarries of Italy, from which undoubtedly come many of the masterpieces that Greece and Rome have contributed to the world's store of Art, and that it was designed and fashioned by a noted sculptor from the land of Michael Angelo.

The base and artistic setting is a thing of beauty, symmetry and symbolism, and should be a joy forever to the people of Raymond and district.

It is interesting to know that the sword is the symbol of strength, the wreath of victory and tribute, the bayonet refers to defense, and the tablet reminds us of our dead, who paid the price.

Many visitors to our town, who are judges of art, have said there is no finer piece of art in all the West.

What message does it bring to you? To me, that immobile figure has gone through all — has made the supreme sacrifice and now stands calm and serene, and in reflective mood looks beyond our vision into the eternity of hope.

Do we appreciate that work of Art in our midst and all that it stands for? We do not if we always pass it by with only a glance at it. It must be quietly studied for what it is, and what it stands for.

There is so much sentiment attached to it, aside from its being a rare gem of art. The very ground on which it stands is consecrated to the memory of the dead who gave the full sacrifice, and the least we can do is to reverence it and help to maintain it in its state of real beauty.

It is our one communal possession and it should be the pride and the duty of every man, woman and child of our community to assist in caring for and protecting it.

Mrs. O. H. Snow.

Bank of Montreal Report Shows Maintenance Of Usual Strong Position

Marked Increase Reported in Holdings of Government and Other High Grade Bonds - Total Assets Stand at $769,166,272 - Quickly Available Assets Are As High As $439,768,506 and Are Equal to 63.46 Per cent of all Liabilities to Public - Excess of Assets Over Liabilities Is 76,160,954.

Featured by unusually strong liquid reserves and affording every reason for confidence the Bank of Montreal annual statement makes its appearance at an opportune time. Financial conditions, not only in Canada, but throughout the world, have been of an exceptional nature and on this account there will be a distinct feeling of satisfaction that the Bank of Montreal again reports to its shareholders the maintenance of its usual strength.

As was to be expected, due to the lessened industrial activity, there has been a slight falling off in a number of the accounts, as compared with a year ago, but this has been very moderate, in view of the general conditions. On the other hand, there has been a marked increase in the holdings of Government and other high grade bonds and debentures.

Total deposits continue at a satisfactory level, well above the $600,000,000 mark. The profit and loss account shows profits for the year considerably below those reported for the previous year. They were, however, sufficient to permit payment of dividends and other charges and provide a further addition to profit and loss account.

Large Liquid Assets.

The annual statement, which is for the fiscal year to October 31st, and is presented in easily understandable form, appears elsewhere in this issue. It shows total assets of $769,166,272, as compared with $794,523,333 at the end of the previous year. Included among these are quickly available resources of $439,768,506, equal to 63.46 per cent of all liabilities to the public. They are up from $417,406,508 a year ago. The principal accounts in the quickly available resources are represented by government and other bonds and debentures, of a value of $266,729,664, up from $236,433,817 a year ago. Cash on hand and in Central Gold Reserves stands at $84,976,18.

During the period there has been a steady reduction in call loans, with the result that call loans outside of Canada are down to $20,071,135 from $28,252,802, while call loans in Canada now stand at $5,157,680, against $9,243,921 at the end of the previous year.

Current Business Quieter.

As a result of the lessened activity in industry and trade generally, current loans continued to recede from the higher levels of more active years and now stand at $302,931,269, as compared with $348,525,148 a year ago.

Deposits continue at a healthy level and would seem to indicate a desire on the part of Canadian depositors to maintain ample savings accounts during difficult periods. Total deposits are reported at $648,832,663 and compare with $669,047,251.

A particularly interesting feature of the report is that it shows total assets of $769,166,272 with which to meet payment of all liabilities to the public of $693,005,318, leaving an excess of assets over liabilities to the public of $76,160,954.

Profit and Loss Account

The profit and loss account reflects the smaller amount of business offering during the year. Total profits were $5,386,379 in the previous year. The distributions made from profits were: dividends to shareholders $3,960,000; provision for taxes Dominion Government $457,671; reservation for bank premises $100,000, leaving a balance to be carried forward of $145,429. This amount added to the balance of $1,103,427 carried forward at the end of the previous year, brought the total balance at the end of the fiscal year to $1,248,856.

The report will be submitted to shareholders at the annual meeting, which will be held at the head office of the Bank in Montreal on Monday, December 5th.

Parliamentary News Service

(Article No. 8)

After some six weeks of debate the Conference agreement, whether as good as the government claims or as lacking, in the eyes of the opposition, have now passed the House and only time will reveal which side is right. Consideration of the items in relation to the textile industries involved a great deal of discussion, the different groups and individuals in the opposition being practically unanimous in condemning the high protection principles revealed in the preferences. The objections of Labor were largely concerned with the exploitation of employees by these industries while the Liberals claimed that the manufacturers would take advantage of the excessively high protection to raise prices or lower quality, perhaps both.

Persistent questions brought to light the fact that previous to the Conference the manufacturers had presented their point of view to the government and this had been a factor in formulating the agreements. The Minister of Trade and Commerce was also constrained to admit that the textile industries are afforded very high protection but the fact that their employees number many thousands of workers justifies the governments actions at this time. The two Winnipeg Labor members, A. A. Heaps and Mr. Woodsworth, quoted many facts and figures to show that employees in the textile industries in Canada are forced to a lower standard of living than those in similar industries in Great Britain, and that the manufacturer's profits are based on large amounts of watered stock. To the Minister's statement that they had to be protected against countries which were willing to "dump" their goods at any price obtainable Mr. Heaps said "When we hear of other countries that are anxious to dump their goods we must bear in mind that perhaps no other country in the world dumps more goods than Canada. Every bushel of wheat shipped out of this country is sold far below the cost of production. I know it is very difficult to improve that situation but nevertheless it is a fact."

The preferences of ten and twenty-five per cent, respectively on barbed wire and cream separators (both free before) provoked a long and at times heated dispute between the government and Liberal representatives of farming districts in Manitoba and Saskatchewan. In regard to barbed wire the Prime Minister said the ten per cent impost was in consequence of a plan by German and Dutch manufacturers to "dump" barbed wire into Canada at a price which would destroy the manufacture of that commodity in this country. Mr. Bennett declared there had been no increase in price in consequence of this tariff and that there would be none, but on this prediction the "consumer" representatives were not so optimistic.

The debate on cream separators was even more spirited as affecting a larger number of farmers, who are already about down and out at the present prices of dairy products. The Minister of Trade and Commerce gave tables of importations showing the large number of cream separators imported from the United States and Sweden, which trade the government hoped to divert to the United Kingdom. Mr. Stevens told the House that he had been assured by a representative of a British firm that importations could be supplied from the United Kingdom at no increase in price, and this would in turn expand the market there for Canadian manufactures in other lines, making this a valuable preference. The Minister also contended that the tariff would result in increased production of cream separators in Canada with a corresponding reduction in price. This statement drew some rather skeptical remarks from the opposition, whereupon the Minister felt called upon to rebuke those who were always suspicious of the Canadian manufacturer. He did not see why sinister motives should always be attributed to these men whom he had found to be men of ethics equal to any in the world! "When I say this," continued Mr. Stevens, "I am not trying to disregard the rights of the farmer because I am just as anxious as any member of this House to see him prosper. I know his difficulties, I sympathize with his burden of debt and the low commodity prices which he receives. I know his problem; this condition does not apply to almost insufferable by only to the farmer."

A brief diversion from the contentious matters was afforded the House under an item including bagpipes. Some Scottish members from British Columbia protested, against having bagpipes classified as a secondary article, claiming a special position for them. Mr. Reid (New Westminster) expressed at last been recognized as musical instruments, and said that as there are between fifty and sixty bands in Canada the bagpipes as well as bagpipes themselves, should be duty free. Hon. Mr. Rhodes said he understood that bagpipes were "reed" instruments and he would take into consideration the suggestion made by the Hon. member from New Westminster.

The debates on the scheduled although rather repetitious at times, have been most interesting and informative and it is a matter of regret that they could not be given more fully.

WHY NOT MILK

A FEW COWS?

We are quite aware that along with the slump in every other commodity and item of produce, butterfat has slumped to only a portion of what it usually is. Probably a good reason to scorn the humble dairy cow. And still we very much doubt it. Like all other lines of endeavor, the ideal time to get a start is when things are at the bottom. If fat were worth 30 to 38c. per pound for special, good cows would be worth $65 to $100 per head. With the slump in prices good cows can be purchased at much less than was possible three or four years ago, and the Dominion Agricultural Credit Co. is making every effort to assist farmers all over Canada to line up their programs so that they can turn their efforts into greater returns financially.

Why should a district like we have be practically cowless? Why should we be so dependent upon the products of our soil? With a little investment and a few years time, we could have thousands of first class dairy cows in the district, and a cash income every day that would pay the grocery bills, the coal bills and the gas bills, as we went through the seasons, and fall would not find us watching a sagging grain market and wondering how we are going to pay thousands of dollars worth of bills, with such small returns.

There are several definite reasons why Raymond should be the leading dairy district of all Alberta. In the first place we have thousands of tons of beet pulp in our midst, where we can get it for practically nothing and there are few, if any, better feeds for production of butter fat than pulp. There may have been a serious question in the past regarding the perpetual nature of the supply, but for the past year or two, the supply has never been exhausted and there is every indication, that in future years there will be sufficient to last from one campaign to another without any question. Then, too, because of the plantings of clover and alfalfa during the past several years, there is a continuous supply of roughage guaranteed for feeding each year. With the irrigation, the necessity of building up the fertility of the land, and the valuable feeds in beet tops and pulp that the sugar industry offers, surely there would be good money in the dairy business.

The question of a market is already solved, at least to an extent. We have good gravelled roads to Lethbridge, we have a transport making the trip nearly every day, and sometimes going in empty, and, fantastic though it may seem, there is no good reason why Raymond could not have its own creamery, or cheese factory, or condensery, and add to our manufacturing industries, putting more people to work, and adding materially to the cash in circulation in the district. It would make us all feel better to have the fun of fingering a few greenbacks a little oftener than we are able to do at present.

The Dominion Agricultural Credit Company, would very likely welcome the opportunity to float a good sized loan in a restricted area like this for the purpose of buying foundation stock for dairy farmers, than to make a single loan here and there. It would be a very good opportunity for some of our civic organizations to do some real effective work in this respect.

In days gone by we have sown the seed, and with our broad acres of good wheat, we have been able to get along alright, after a fashion. But, how soon the worst turns in the dry farming industry. While no fortunes have been achieved by milking the last year or two, at least one investigates the individual farmers and ranchers of the Cardston district, who are patrons of the creamery, you will find that the people who get a cream cheque or two each week are the ones who are paying their grocery and gas bills as they go along, and while, with everyone else, they feel the pinch of the times, they are much better off in every way, than the ones without cows, and the same thing would hold true here. And, just here let us point out that dairymen buy pulp at $1.25 per ton and upwards, delivered there, and maintain it is the cheapest and best feed they can buy. The reason they don't buy more, is because they can grow hay to feed, but they can't grow money to buy pulp with. If they could get it as easily as we can, we would have to get up bright and early if we ever got a load. True, we never miss the water till the well goes dry.

It seems that our worry and anxiety of the past few years, should have us pretty well convinced that straight wheat farming is a bigger gamble than most of us can afford to take, and anything that promised a sure return, even if a small one would be welcome. There are many sidelines that dairying suggests, and while not very profitable without the skim milk, where plenty of that by-product was available, every dollar made through it, would be practically that amount just found, and would help a great deal. In seeking for prosperity, and better days, don't overlook the Dairy Cow, and the side lines that would follow with her.

Sunday was more like August than November, and Monday was just as nice.

Chas. Walton was under the weather over the week-end with an attack of flu.

The Raymond Mercantile now sport a new rubber tired delivery wagon, painted in a bright combination of yellow and jet black. It is a real snappy rig.

A bank manager in a small town in Central Alberta, seized a crop on a half section of land before harvest. He bought twine and hired cutting and stooking, also had the wheat threshed hauled to the elevator. He is now holding the grain in the elevator because at present prices he cannot meet the expenses he incurred. The question arises, how can the farmer get along when he has to pay for, besides the above expense, seed, taxes, repairs, feed and incidental expenses and living and clothing for himself and his family for a year? —U. Harmony can do wonderful things for some cities.

Advertising a city is a business — not child's play.

People will go miles to get to a good, live city to trade.

No advertising gives as quick returns as newspaper advertising.

Business comes where it is invited and stays where it is well treated.

The city which does not seek something better than it now has is going to lose out.

A glance through the advertising columns of your newspaper enables you to tell in a few minutes all you want to know and were to get the service or articles you may need.

Some cities are order takers they take what comes to them. Other cities are order getters, they make up their mind what their city needs and then go after it until they get it.

I NOTE IN MANY OKLAHOMA PAPERS, ACCORDING TO A STATEMENT BY J. F. TWENS, PRESIDENT OF THE OKLAHOMA CHAMBER OF COMMERCE, THAT A PAVED HIGHWAY BELT LINE CIRCULATING THAT CITY WILL BE A REALITY IN A FEW YEARS. THIS SHOULD MAKE OTHER CITIES SIT UP AND TAKE NOTICE. Tree Planting In Southern Alberta

The Latter-Day Saint communities in Alberta are unique in their tree planting record. When, thirty years ago, our pioneers came to this treeless plain they almost immediately began to plant trees. At this time Western Canada had no precedent or no background in this connection. A few trees had been planted at Regina, Lethbridge and Calgary, but it was generally thought hopeless to attempt any extensive planting. Indeed, it was not until four or five years later that the Dominion Government began to interest itself in this direction. Now it is estimated that the money value of tree plantings on the prairies exceeds twenty millions of dollars.

The object of our early plantings was to get something growing quickly that would break the monotony of the view and check the severe winds. It was necessary to use what material was at hand and naturally the quick growing varieties were largely used. In addition to a lack of suitable material there was little or no information to guide the people in their efforts. In the face of these difficulties it is commendable indeed that Raymond has become such an oasis. The only definite attempt in a civic way to plant hardwoods was made in the early history of Raymond and a few of these excellent avenue trees remain to the credit of the pioneers.

It is unfortunate that our noblest trees have now reached their zenith and most of them are failing rapidly. Our cottonwoods and native poplar are not long-lived, seldom attaining forty years. In the interest of our town something should be done at once to replace these pioneer trees with suitable hardwoods.

Today we think that it takes money to beautify our surroundings, but we should remember that without money and with very little leisure most of Raymond's tree planting was done. In this age we are worrying, of of leisure, might we suggest that some of it might well be directed toward civic beautification. Not so much in the sense of our own immediate home, but the town as a whole.

It may be thought that Raymond has little to be proud of in the way of individual or specimen trees, this is not so. Among the most distinctively beautiful trees that could be seen anywhere are the following:

Willow trees, Sydney Smith's Lamb's; Cut-leaved birch, Selman's, Allen's, Bennett's; Apple, Bank of Montreal; Cottonwood, C. R. Wing's; Lilacs, Rhonda Dahl, Mrs. Jeffrey. A great number of other beautiful trees could be mentioned, but these are worth special consideration and treatment. No evergreens are mentioned because there are none that have attained sufficient size to be particularly outstanding. There are, however, some very symmetrical and nicely formed evergreens that will be very attractive in another ten years.

One only has to see Raymond without snow in the winter to realize the crying need for evergreens.

The following list of suitable trees and shrubs for our conditions may help in suggesting future planting.

(1) Hardwoods—Green Ash and Elm.

(2) Evergreens—(Colorado) Silver Spruce (this is our hardiest spruce and one of the most beautiful specimen trees). White Spruce, Scotch Pine and Jack Pine.

(3) Ornamental and Decorative trees and shrubs—Cut leaved Birch, Native Birch, Caragana (several varieties Dogwood, Cotoneaster, Manitoba plum and Cherry, Siberian Crab, Native Mountain Ash, Flowering Current, Syringa (Lilac various) Spirea Van Houttei, Bridal Wreath, Duchess Apple, Snowball, Honeysuckle, Golden Elder, and Rosa Rugosa.

To irrigation must go the credit of being the most important factor in our success at growing trees, but unfortunately the very thing that gave us success is now destroying some of the soil of our town. Two serious problems confront the town as far as civic beautification is concerned. (1) Alkali. (2) Wide streets and large lots. The first problem must be solved by drainage, the second one might be turned to our advantage because large space is always desirable for most effective treatment. The consistent planting of either side of Raymond's streets with rows of ash and elm would, in year to come, render our streets the most beautiful in Western Canada. If such a program were supplemented by the planting of evergreens in suitable places, the parking of a small suitable area, the beautification of our cemetery and school grounds, we could then begin to look with pride on our achievements and could feel that we were keeping up if not improving the good work begun thirty years ago by our pioneers.

He did not want it any longer. We wondered what was the matter. Upon investigating our subscription list we found that Tim was short six dollars. He never paid a cent, yet he stopped his paper as a matter of economy; to us. A few evenings later we stepped into a church and Tim's melodious voice rang out clear in the song, "Jesus Paid It All." We may have been mistaken, but the next day we sent him a receipt in full, begging his pardon for not knowing he had made an assignment of his liabilities to the Lord.—Ex.

News Notes

Ted Gourley was a Lethbridge visitor on Monday last.

James F. and James W. Fisher and party were Lethbridge visitors on Saturday last.

Chas. Nutkins of the Metropolitan Life Insurance, Lethbridge was in Raymond Monday.

Mrs. Maurice Cooper was a victim of the flu over the week end.

J. Frank Gibb, Fieldman for the Sugar Co. in the Hill Spring district was a Raymond visitor last Saturday.

Frank Atterton spent the week-end with his parents in Cardston, returning on the bus Monday morning.

The personnel of the shifts at the Factory has been badly disrupted of late because of the flu.

Miss Naomi Vance is spending a couple of weeks with her mother here, following an illness in Cardston which the Doctor says demands a rest cure.

H. W. Wood was again named Chairman of the Alberta Wheat Pool, and the same Directors were elected for another year in the recent Convention.

Several loads of cinders were put in front of the Safeway Store on Monday. The entire length of Broadway was quite muddy following the thaw of last week.

Herman Trele of Wembley, Alberta, won the Wheat Championship at Chicago, and the Oat Crown went to Fred Haman of Goodfare, Alberta. Eighty of the first eighty-five prizes were won by Canadians, and 65 won before a States exhibit won.

The Christensen family of Stirling had a Reunion in Magrath last Friday, and Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Hancock and Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Cook from here made the trip with part of the family from Stirling and enjoyed the day there.

Another beet payment is going into the mails today, which will total in the neighborhood of $200,000, covering beets delivered up to November 15th. This will help financial conditions over the entire southern end of the province.

What might have been a real serious accident occurred on the factory road, when a truck driven by Albert Zobell ran into two beet racks, one loaded one empty. One Hungarian in the empty wagon was thrown out, striking on his head and shoulders and was unconscious for some time. Damage to the wagons and the truck was slight.

W. H. DeLong, traveller of Lethbridge, and known to every merchant in the Lethbridge trading district, passed away in that city on Thursday, following an accident on the gravelled highway at Spring Coulee the previous day. He suffered internal injuries which caused paralysis to one side of his body and the end came very suddenly at the Hospital.

More consideration must be given to the spiritual side of life and the general good of humanity if the world is ever to come out of the existing depression, in the opinion of Hon. W. F. Jackson, of Fort Scott, Kansas, grand sire of the sovereign grand lodge I. O. O. F., who last week visited Western Canada, using Canadian National services. The kind of prosperity which leaves half the country rolling in wealth and the other half starving is not worth trying to re-establish. Men must cease trying to pile up wealth at the expense of the other fellow, and work for the good of the community, the visitor declared to newspaper men.

CARD OF THANKS

We take this opportunity of expressing our thanks and appreciation to all those who assisted in our Bazaar and Sale last Saturday, either by donation of materials for sale, or by purchasing of various articles which were offered for sale. Your co-operation made our sale the success that it was.

The Taylor Stake Primary.

In the Wheat Pool Convention, the delegates asked for a wheat bonus to be paid annually, and the Canadian dollar tied up on a parity with the British pound.
